

How have I shown perseverance in the classroom since the beginning of the school year?

I showed grit in writing because even when I don't know a word I keep trying until I get it write. I can also write without getting up so many times.

What is a strategy I can do to improve my perseverance by the end of the year?

I can stop telling people the answer but a hint. I will also try different ways but still do the right assignment.